PEORIA, ILL. — These two automobiles were tossed about like toys during the tornado which ripped into the southside of Peoria Tuesday, inflicting heavy property damage and sending numerous persons to local hospitals for treatment of cuts and bruises. Left in a complete shambles following the 73 m.p.h. winds was a bottling company, a portion of a distillery, a stock yards, gas station, grade school, nursing home, and numerous other small businesses and homes. Thant Unable To Bring 'Even Temporary Peace'

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—President Mohammed Ayub Khan invited President Johnson today to bring the power of the United States to bear in halting the war between India and Pakistan.

"The United States can play a very definite role by telling India and Pakistan she will not stand for this struggle," he told reporters. "She could have brought a solution about in 1962 and could have brought it about today."

In New Delhi, Foreign Minister Swaran Singh said U. N. Secretary-General U Thant had been unable to achieve "even temporary peace" and Indian "defensive operations must continue with unabated vigor."

Singh spoke at a news conference shortly after Thant left New Delhi expressing belief the desire of both sides "to stop the fighting and find a peaceful solution has become stronger."

Thant headed back to New York by plane to report to the U.N. Security Council on his attempt to halt the fighting.

Despite Singh's pessimistic view of Ayub Khan's statement, officials in Washington thought the Pakistan president's appeal for U.S. help might offer a possible new opening to end the fighting.

Thant left New Delhi by plane on the first leg of his homeward journey to report to the U.N. Security Council on his attempt to halt the fighting between the two neighboring nations.

Thant will not stop over in either Pakistan's capital of Rawalpindi or Moscow to discuss his peace mission, a spokesman said.

Thant was reported to have communicated with the Pakistani government during the night, after meeting Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Thant will fly to Bombay on India's west coast Thursday and then leave aboard an Air India plane for New York.

Thant's proposal for an immediate cessation of hostilities was reported under consideration by India and Pakistan but neither has yet replied.

Shastri held an extended Cabinet meeting and delayed a scheduled announcement in Parliament. Shastri had been reported earlier seriously considering working for a halt in the war.

Shastri held talks with Thant Tuesday night. Indian officials reported Thant then spent much of the night communicating "with other countries."

The Indians said these probably were the Soviet Union, the United States and Pakistan, but a U.N. spokesman would not comment.

Fast Action On Appeal To Johnson

President Responds With Plea For Dual Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, responding to a surprising move by President Mohammed Ayub Kahn of Pakistan, made a new appeal today for Pakistan and India to cooperate with the United Nations in the search for an end to their conflict.

The White House said Johnson is willing to do everything he can to promote peace but that he "very strongly hopes" that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant will be given every opportunity to resolve the problem of the undeclared war over Kashmir.

The statement by press secretary Bill D. Moyers left the way open for direct action by Johnson to make clear U.S. insistence on an end to the fighting.

Ayub seemed to be saying in a press conference declaration earlier today in Pakistan that a strong stand by Johnson on ending the struggle would force a solution.

Moyers' statement strongly affirmed Johnson support for Thant's efforts but did not foreminister, Z. A. Bhutto, said in a more direct United States move in the future. Meanwhile, it was understood that the United States would seek through the Pakistan Embassy in Washington and the U.S. Embassy in Rawalpindi to find out exactly what Ayub meant by his remark.

Ayub's statement came at a significant moment in the fight. A few hours earlier his foreign minister, ZA.. Bhutto, said in a speech in Pakistan that his nation was totally committed to the struggle with India.

US Forces Fan Out In VC Country

Join Vietnamese In Operation To Set Up a Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of U.S. paratroopers and Vietnamese soldiers fanned out today in Viet Cong territory about 30 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

Elements of the U.S. Army's 173rd Brigade are taking part in the joint operation launched Tuesday in an effort to establish a base for U.S. forces in an area long under guerrilla control.

The spokesman said no major contact had been made but that the allied forces drew sporadic sniper fire. He reported no U.S. casualties but said Australian and New Zealand troops on the operation took light losses.

The area being cleared was near the district town of Ben Cat, 30 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province.

U.S. advisers parachuted Tuesday with 1,100 Vietnamese just northeast of Ben Cat in one phase of the operation. In another part, U.S. paratroopers and New Zealand and Australian contingents reached Ben Cat by convoy along Highway 13 on which the Viet Cong have pulled many bloody ambushes.

One truck in the convoy blew up after striking a mine and inflicted the casualties on the New Zealanders.

The parachute jump was made in driving rain and was the first by Vietnamese paratroopers since last year.

In the air war, another flight of B52 bombers from Guam hit a suspected Viet Cong installation in Zone D 30 miles northeast of Saigon in Bien Hoa Province. It was the 24th announced raid by the big planes of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

A U.S. Navy plane on a strike in South Viet Nam crashed at sea 145 miles southwest of Saigon, and the pilot was presumed dead.

Seventeen Americans were killed in action during the week ending Sept. 11, a military spokesman said. Fifty-eight others were wounded.

Giant Betsy Sets Storm Damage Mark

Disaster Compares To Earthquake; LBJ Urges Help

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Giant Hurricane Betsy, which once seemed destined to blow itself out over the open Atlantic only to arc back and smash a billion-dollar blow at Louisiana, apparently was the most destructive tropical storm since records have been kept.

Gov. John J. McKeithen said Louisiana has "suffered a disaster comparable to an earthquake" and President Johnson prodded federal disaster officials to work with state leaders "without regard to red tape or hours."

Military divers near Baton Rouge still searched for a sunken barge loaded with 600 tons of lethal chlorine, swamped by the massive storm.

Betsy churned across Louisiana out of the Gulf of Mexico Thursday, blasting with 140-mile-an-hour winds and causing tidal waves 30 feet high to spill from the Mississippi River.

The known death toll has reached 74—62 in Louisiana, 7 in Florida, 4 in Arkansas and 1 in Mississippi.

"There is no question but that we will find many more bodies after flood waters recede," McKeithen said Tuesday at a New Orleans news conference.

Upriver near Baton Rouge, military rescue teams were to begin dredging today along a 37-mile-long segment of Mississippi River channel to find out if the potentially dangerous barge is in the channel.

Coast Guard Capt. Russell Waesche said late Tuesday night that if the chlorine barge is not in the channel, river traffic stacked up for miles due to search operations can resume.

Injuries In Troop 'A' Area Down

Even though the number of accidents during August increased slightly over the same month in 1964, the number of injured and total amount of property damage resulting from them were both less this year, Capt. G. W. Pate, commanding officer of Troop A, Missouri Highway Patrol, said today.

During the first eight months of this year, Pettis County has recorded seven traffic fatalities, two less then the same period last year. Accidents were also down this year, 219, compared to 253 in 1964. The injured totalled 155 this year and 141 in 1964, and property damage was estimated at $135,628 in 1965 and $158,441 in the first eight months of 1964.

Drivers examination tests were given to 317 persons in Pettis County during August, and of these, 93 failed. The patrol counted 239 new drivers, 52 from out of state, 25 whose license had expired and 28 who were given examinations due to defective vehicles.

Pate said the patrol had investigated 2,717 accidents in the first eight months of 1965 in the 13 mid-western counties that Troop A covers. This total compared to 2,797 accidents in 1964. For the entire area, Pate said, 120 persons were killed in the

Gloomy View Of Accidents This Year

The August traffic summary, prepared by the Highway Patrol's Troop F, Jefferson City, presents a gloomier picture for the first eight months of this year as compared to figures for 1964. The troop's area, which includes Camden, Cooper, Howard. Moniteau and Morgan County in The Democrat-Capital's circulation territory, shows a general increase in accidents and fatalities this year.

Of those counties named, only Cooper and Moniteau showed a decrease in the fatalities count. Camden County showed the largest increase in accidents, totalling 11. Both catagories are in the August 1965-64 comparison schedule.

Morgan County recorded the sharpest decrease in property damage, with the figure dropping from $18,025 for August of 1964, to $10,925 for the same month this year.

A rundown of statistics for the 1965 eight-month period follows:

Camden County — accidents, 206; killed, 5; injured, 129; property damage, $89,841.

Cooper County — accidents, 131; killed, 10; injured, 87; property damage, $131,772.

Howard County — accidents, 48; killed, 1; injured, 35; property damage, $26,600.

Moniteau County — accidents, 59; killed, 2; injured, 31; property damage, $31,806.

Morgan County — accidents, 93; killed, 5; injured, 76; property damage, $53,030.

Answers Need

Sets Worldwide Bishops' Synod

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI issued an official document today setting up a worldwide synod of bsihops and spelling out how it will help him govern the Roman Catholic Church.

The document was read to the approximately 2,500 prelates in St. Peter's Basilica at their first working meeting of the fourth and final session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The Pope announced Tuesday that he would create the synod.

The document stated that the synod answers the Pope's need for a central organization to bring him into closer contact with bishops around the world.

The official name of the body will be "Synod of the Bishops." It will meet in ordinary, extraordinary or special meetings wherever and whenever the Pope sees fit.

Most of the members, whose total number was not specified, will be bishops actively in charge of dioceses and archdioceses.

One bishop will be chosen from each national bishops conference that has 25 members or fewer; two from each conference with 50 or under; three from each conference with 100 or under; four from each conference with more than 100 bishops.

The United States, Italy, Brazil and nearly a dozen other countries have more than 100 bishops and will thus have four members of the synod.

After the reading of the papal document, bishops of the council began debate on the religious liberty document which has caused one of the widest controversies in the 3-year-old council.

The religious liberty topic says every man has a right to follow his conscience in religious belief and cannot be hindered from doing so.

The 54-page document on religious liberty was on the verge of an initial vote last November, but shortly before the 1964 session ended, the scheduled ballot was suddenly shelved.

There were 122 bishops who wanted more time to study the topic. The late Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Paul Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal got up a petition supported by 56 per cent of the prelates, asking the Pope to let the vote take place.

The council presidency announced in the name of the pontiff that the vote would wait until next year rahter than have the freedom of any council fathers infringed.

Space Twins Begin Tour Of Goodwill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's accolades received, astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. set out tonight on a goodwill tour of the Middle East and Africa.

Because it is a goodwill mission and because Washington wants to accent the peaceful aspects of space exploration, the Gemini 5 astronauts will be traveling in civilian clothing — although both are military officers.

In fact, one of the highlights of their day in the Washington limelight Tuesday was word from President Johnson that they were free to address the promotion.

For Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, this means promotion to colonel; for Conrad, a Navy lieutenant commander, this means a step-up to commander.

In Washington the astronauts were pretty much taken in stride. A White House reception lasted only 10 minutes. Spectators along the Constitution Avenue parade route were outnumbered by police. In the Senate, the heroes had to wait for a final vote on the farm bill before they were free to addresss the assembled senators.

Still, it was a cheerful day, and a pleasant summery one. At Johnson's desk, Conrad's four sons, the oldest 10 and the youngest 4, frolicked about, taking the play from the ceremony at which Cooper and Conrad received space agency medals for "outstanding contributions to the technology of manned space flights."

One of the Conrad boys tried out Johnson's chair. Another played with the telephones on the President's desk.

After the ceremony, the fliers were honored at a luncheon at the National Academy of Sciences, then rode with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in a motorcade to the Capitol.

Gen. Humfeld Replaced By Missourian

MARCH AFB, Riverside, Calif. — Maj. Gen. Harold E. Humfeld, deputy commander of the 15th Air Force since July, today was relieved of command because of ill health and is being replaced by a Missourian, Maj. Gen. Austin J. Russell, Monett, it was announced here today.

Gen. Humfeld, who is well known in the Sedalia area from his tenure of command at nearby Whiteman AFB, suffered a heart attack Aug. 31 while hospitalized. He has been released from the hospital, however, and is now convalescing at his home in Riverside.

Gen. Russell has been serving as deputy commander of the Eighth Air Force at Westover AFB, Mass. Russell assumes his new command on Oct. 1.

Humfeld was commander of the 340th Bomb Wing at Whiteman and later formed the 17th Air Division there. He was promoted to brigadier general while at Whiteman and was recently promoted to major general while serving at Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha. Humfeld is from Clay Center, Kan., and his wife is a Missourian, the former Jennie Reece, Republic.

BULLETIN

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Majority Democrats of the Missouri House of Representatives voted 62-24 today in favor of a resolution asking Gov. Warren E. Hearnes for a special legislative session on House reapportionment with no strings attached.

The meeting, called by Speaker Thomas D. Graham, D-Cole County, lasted almost three hours behind the locked doors of the House chamber. Several members walked out in anger or disgust. There were efforts, too, to postpone the session until Sunday.

There were loud arguments and even after the meeting no one appeared sure whether the vote was lopsided enough to spell out an immediate victory for Graham in his hassle with the governor.

Bus Route Problem Thorny

Dissatisfaction with school bus routes in four rural school districts which have been annexed to Sedalia District No. 200 has blossomed into a thorny problem for the city Board of Education and 39 school patrons attended the Tuesday night board meeting to voice their objections.

The largest delegation on hand was from the old Anderson school district while the former Mosby, Liberty and Quisenberry rural districts were represented in lesser number. Appearance of the crowd forced the board to move the early part of its meeting from the air conditioned Board of Education office upstairs to the senior high library.

Dr. C. W. Monsees, a local veterinarian, headed the Anderson delegation and likened the school bus service routes plotted by the board to a betrayal.

"We must let you know how alarmed and dissatisfied we are over the planned bus service you scheduled in our district as well as the other districts," Monsees said.

"Since the schedule was printed in the Sedalia Democrat, I am sure many of you, as I, have received numerous phone calls, visits and etc. from alarmed parents. Many of you have apparently been sympathetic toward us when our problem was more fully explained to you. Some of you actually gave up your busy schedule and looked over the routes set up and met with us. Some of you were just a little on the discourteous side."

Monsees named no individuals, however, in hinting that reception to the bus route objections were not quite what anticipated. The board is composed of six members: C. W. Hurtt, president; David Martin, Mrs. Mary Studer, Robert Johnson, William O. Hiatt and George Thompson. All were present for the Tuesday night meeting.

"We have first graders having to walk one-quarter mile on treacherous and dangerous Highway 65, with a speed limit of 70 miles an hour and a terrific load of morning and evening traffic, to get to a determined bus stop," Monsees declared.

"We have one first grader who must go one mile to get to her determined bus stop.

"What about these youngsters walking and waiting for the bus when it is raining, snowing or sleeting?

"To make this sound even more unreasonable," he continued, "some of these youngsters have the bus going by their house lane two times and not stopping for them."

Noting that the state says school bus routes should be carefully planned to provide safety, service, efficiency and economy, Monsees said, "In our area our two alarming things that we are disturbed about is the disregard for safety and the health of our youngsters." He called the bus service ridiculously poor.

As an alternative, Monsees proposed a route he had mapped which he said would require "14 more stops, only 30 minutes more time and would furnish a complete transportation service." The alternate route was drawn after he had ridden the bus, observed the stops, the time schedule and the bypassing of homes, Monsees said.

The former Anderson district transferred $6,462.07 remaining in their treasury after satisfaction of bills following annexation to Sedalia, Monsees told the board. In addition, he said, the district has a total tax valuation of $369,350 producing $10,415.67 on the Sedalia district's $2.82 school levy. This supports 39 students, 27 elementary and 12 high school, at a rate of approximately $260 per year, he said.

Others speaking up on transportation problems in the districts included Mrs. George McFatrich, who said she is moving into the old Liberty District; Mrs. Eula Harms, Liberty; Earl Thomas, Mosby; Bruce Dawson, Quisenberry; Ed Eshelman, Anderson; Mrs. Dick Brinkman, Mosby; and Charles Siron, Quisenberry.

Eshelman, from the Anderson district, identified his home as one the present school bus route passes twice without stopping and said his daughter must walk a half-mile to board the bus.

In the Mosby district, Mrs. Brinkman said one boarding location is on a dangerous hill.

Dawson, of the Quisenberry District, was one of several speakers who urged more time on the busses if necessary from an increase in stops.

"We feel the time on the bus is much safer than time spent going to and from the bus stop," he stated.

Dawson, who resides on West 16th Street Road (Route Y), noted that the route carries a

City School Enrollment Breakdown

Supt. of Schools Dr. T. J. Norris provided Board of Education members Tuesday night with a breakdown on enrollment in the city school system and the student load shows only a marginal increase of 67 over last year.

Total elementary enrollment — grades one through seven — comes to 2,652 students, an increase of 53 over last year. An enrollment of 1,858 at Smith-Cotton High School and Hubbard division of Smith-Cotton brings the school system's total to 4,510 students. The high school enrollment is an increase of 14 over the last school term.

Enrollment at Smith - Cotton alone is just less than 1,800, Norris said, and students anticipated from personnel connected with the Boeing Company could send S-C enrollment to a new record later this year. Boeing personnel connected with modifications to the Whiteman AFB Minuteman missile complex are expected to send some 100 students into the high school at Boeing's peak employment here.

Previous high enrollment at Smith - Cotton was 1,850 and came during the initial construction phases on the missile complex.

Youth Lying In Road Is Killed By Auto

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP) — An 18-year-old youth, apparently lying in the middle of a county road, was run over and killed early today.

He was identified as Kenneth R. Hammerand, son of Sgt. and Mrs. E. C. Hammerand of Marshall. The father is a zone sergeant with the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The patrol said the car was driven by Curtis Ray Thorp, 19, Nelson, Mo. Thorp said he came over a hill on Route H, about five miles southeast of here, saw an object in the middle of the road and tried to straddle it. He said it was about 3 a.m.

A motorcycle Hammerand had been riding was found about seven miles from the scene of the mishap. It was out of gasoline.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who became pregnant at 42. Here is my story and I hope it helps her.

I was 41 when I discovered I was pregnant. Our son was in the Navy and our younger daughter was eight years old. Our older daughter was engaged to be married. We gave her a big church wedding when I was in my seventh month. I had to make my own dress because I couldn't find a mother-of-the-bride gown in a maternity style.

I admit I was not thrilled at first but became reconciled to the fact that I would be raising another child and I tried to be cheerful about it.

My husband was burned up. He called me a dumbbell and told everyone who would listen that all women should be shot at age 40. I was sure he would get over his anger but to my surprise he walked out on me the week after our daughter's wedding. I have not seen him since.

That was 18 years ago. My "baby" is now a handsome young man about to enter college. I had to go to work to support him and myself but with the help of my two older children I raised the boy. When we went places together strangers couldn't figure out our relationship. Once he said to me (he was 10 years old at the time) I'll sock the next person who calls you my grandmother."

The "late arrival" cost me my husband, but if I had to do it over again I would not do it differently. This boy is the most marvelous thing that ever happened to me. — PAYING BUT GLAD.

Dear Glad: That husband of yours sounds like a beaut. How wonderful that you didn't allow his leaving to turn you into a bitter old woman. Congratulations and best wishes.

Dear Ann Landers: I liked your answer to the man who wrote about members of the choir falling asleep in church during the minister's sermon. It reminded me of an old story my father used to tell. Maybe you've heard it before. If you have it's too late to stop me.

A preacher who was delivering his sermon spotted a man in the congregation who was sleeping peacefully. He became annoyed and tried to awaken the slumbering parishioner by speaking loudly, but it was useless. Finally the preacher turned to the deacon and said "Go wake that man up." The deacon replied, "Wake him up yourself. You are the one who put him to sleep."—SEATTLE SAM.

Dear Sam: O.K. now that you've shaved it and told it, how about waking up my readers? I'd like them to see the next letter.

Dear Ann Landers: When you pick up a newspaper and see heart - breaking pictures of boney, starved, half-naked children wandering around the streets of a bombed out Asian city and then you read the silly, inconsequential complaints that people write to Ann Landers about, doesn't it make you sick in your stomach?

Someone has a sister-in-law who is a tramp, or a neighbor who lets his dog bark at night, or a husband who drinks too much beer and sits around in his underwear. These are problems?

We Americans should get down our knees at night and thank God for the daily blessings of food and shelter and pray for peace.—TEEN FROM INDIANA.

Dear Teen: Amen.

getting into college

Timing----When Is a Youth Ready?

By JOHN C. HOY
Dean of Admissions
Wesleyan University
Middletown, Conn.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If the average shoe size in the United States is 9, this does not mean that every person has a size 9 foot.

Neither does the fact that the average age of a college freshman is 17 or 18 mean that every youngster is ready for college immediately following high school.

Actually a good number of young people who take a job for a year or so after high school do better beginning college later than they would have otherwise.

These usually are young people who need further experience with the "real world" before they can gain a better sense of why they are planning a college education.

Colleges and universities are very much interested in students who have the kind of foresight such a move demonstrates.

There should be no embarrassment to a parent whose son or daughter takes a working intermission between high school and college. More and more colleges are encouraging their enrolled students to take a year off for just this purpose—often without regard to academic difficulty.

There are students who attend college because they have "nothing better to do." Not surprisingly, students of this sort often bog down in the "sophomore slump"—and drop out of college altogether.

From our experience we believe that many youngsters have the right instinct about whether they are ready for college. All too often it is the parents who force them into mistakes.

Parents, understandably, have a tendency to believe that their child will do well in college if only given the chance. This, in spite of a record of poor performance in high school.

But logic, no matter how one tries to stretch it, does not indicate that the student who did not like high school and did not do well there will enjoy college and get what he should out of it.

An unusually high percentage of parents who push this kind of a child often discover the term "late bloomer." They claim that their child, one who has "not achieved" in high school, is really a species of genius who has not yet shown his bud. Colleges are constantly dealing with young people. They are particularly well adept at recognizing the wide variety of "late bloomers" who apply for admission.

Putting pressure on underachievers to go to college is merely increasing the chance that these youths will drop out. The majority of college dropouts in the United States are youngsters who have been under this pressure.

Occasionally an applicant appears who does not present all the "proper" credentials, but clearly shows a particular dimension of independence or creativity which caused him to buck the "system" in high school. As a result this student did not gain the particular rewards—namely grades — given by the secondary school.

Such a student may, on the other hand, be a voracious reader. This student may possess a curiosity and diligence which leads into worlds of learning that actually may be unmeasurable by the standards of traditional achievement.

Parents would do well to allow their son's or daughter's guidance counselor and admissions officer to determine how "truly unusual" the candidate's case may be. When a parent says, "I have a truly unusual son, but . . . " the college admissions officer feels it's time to duck. This kind of information is best presented by the candidate personally. He will have ample opportunity to do so on the application form or during the interview.

In general, colleges are quite suspicious of the candidate or parent who comes into the admissions office and uses the term "late bloomer" as an excuse for a poor high school record.

Actually, students who truly belong in this category are much too interested and involved in lively concerns to describe themselves in such a fashion.

In short, one of the real tests of whether a young man or young lady is ready to enter college is his or her ability to make an objective appraisal of themselves.

Bus

heavy amount of traffic during times when youngsters are going to and from school. He said his wife had counted 18 automobiles pass their residence in an eight-minute time span on a recent morning.

A solution, however, may be some time in coming and board members declined to set a time schedule as to when an answer would be available, although study of the bus routes was pledged.

Board president Hurt, before opening the floor to discussion, had told those present that the bus schedule had been established on the basis of service, number of stops and safety. But at the conclusion of the talks, he acknowledged there are a number of problems in the present routes and said he is hopeful they can be worked out.

One other factor faces the board members — that of extra cost. School Supt. Dr. T. J. Norris told the board that his discussion with the Kansas City firm holding the district's transportation contract indicated that the bus firm desired to renegotiate its contract if additional stops are added.

As background to the bus route controversy, the Sedalia district after a vote of the people in March, 1963, discontinued school bus transportation. But the district found itself back in the transportation business under state law requiring transportation for all pupils in annexed areas who reside 3½ miles or over from their schools.

Thus in June, the Board of Education awarded the transportation contract for the Anderson, Mosby, Quisenberry and Liberty districts to School Transportation, Inc. of Kansas City (Harmon & Sons). The Kansas City firm bid $380 per bus per school month to provide the service of three busses. On a nine-month school year this service would amount to $10,260.

Charge UN Command Plane In Violation

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea charged today that a United Nations Command transport plane violated the Communist air space over the west central front Sept. 5.

Maj. Gen. Park Chung-kook, Red delegate, told the joint military armistice commission, that a twin-engine C47 flew across the demilitarized zone into North Korean air space about two miles north of the zone before flying back to the south.

The Communist delegate also said a naval patrol craft of the U.N. Command side intruded into North Korean waters off the east coast Aug. 31.

U.S. Army Maj. Gen. William P. Yarborough, the U.N. delegate to the commission, said the alleged violations will be investigated.

Speaks On Disrespect Of the Law

Henry Keeler, attorney, spoke to the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel on the subject: "Dsrespect for the Law from a Juvenile Standpoint."

A juvenile means someone between the ages of 14 to 17, Keeler said, and delinquent means lacking in something. Today it is lacking in respect for the law.

In the beginning, before the founding of juvenile courts, he explained, children as young as seven years of age were tried for crimes they had committed in the same court as adults and were placed in jails and prisons with hardened criminals. Today, he said, they are tried in juvenile courts, and the names are not published. This, he felt was wrong, but he also felt that names should not be published for a first offense — anybody may make the first mistake, he quoted his father as saying, but only a fool makes the mistake a second time.

It is the adult who is responsible for the spread of juvenile delinquency, Keller pointed out, and it may be the parents, a teacher, or someone a child admires, and they can set the example, good or bad.

Children are impulsive. They do things and get in trouble, but adults are impulsive, too. When adults do little things against the law, and try to cover up with a reason why they did, then they are setting the wrong example. They consciously or unconsciously set examples and sometimes they get caught.

This country was founded on certain principles, and there has been a time when the word square was one of the finest in the country. Today young people are afraid of being called a square for those who are square believe in honesty, loyalty, thrift, the things that are upright and good. They call a person who does his job and is willing to do it well, a square; anyone who does the right thing is looked down on.

The twisted meaning for the word square today, said Keeler, came from the prison — it was given by convicts to those in prison who did not conform to the convict code.

Parents have defended the wrongs of their children in court. He told of the effect on children of the ever increasing divorces. People used to feel that when they married it was for keeps, but today they marry with the idea in mind that if their marriage don't work out they can get a divorce. Children, he said, should have two parents in the home. He felt that World War II added to the tragedy of delinquents when mothers were urged to go to work in factories.

It is the parents fault, too, he said, if they do not insist on respect for the law. Where there is no respect there is no love. He illustrated how a hero, a movie star or some other noted person, would get involved in narcotics or some unlawful thing and would get off with a slap on the wrist. This has its effect on children he said.

The young generation paints pictures you can't tell whether they are hanging upside down or not; non-books are written by non-writers; in murky places they sing poetry, they have to sing it because it is impossible to read it. They have lost humor, and it is no longer easy to laugh.

Squares like Nathan Hale, Paul Revere and Patrick Henry are no longer quoted in text books since 1920.

You have to be round, not square to fit into this society, because it is easier to be round, you roll easier. There seems to be a wave of lawlessness—mass disobedience. He went on to say he agreed that all people should have equal rights but he didn't like the idea of people interfering with his rights.

There are some squares in this country, though, the astronauts, if they weren't squares they wouldn't risk their lives as they do.

There is a return of the ideas on which this country was founded and the thinking of the adults is going to have shape in the future, when adults accept the responsibility and instill in their children the basic ideas upon which this nation was built.

The speaker was introduced by Jim Ripley, program chairman.

Wray Schroeder, president, presided over the meeting and invocation was given by Judge Dimmitt Hoffman. Jim Ripley led the singing with Mrs. Lillian Maynard at the piano.

● Circuit Court

Judge Frank W. Hayes appointed three commissioners in Circuit Court Tuesday to appraise land involved in right-of-way easements for the construction of a high voltage electric transmission line in Pettis County north of here.

The Central Electric Power Cooperative is the plaintiff in the case against a number of residents of the affected area of the county. Title of the case is the Cooperative versus Roy A. Petty, and others.

Named as commissioners were Paul Read, Mike O'Connor and Dick Monsees. They had been scheduled to take their oath and begin viewing the property on Friday, but the date has been postponed now until Monday, Sept. 20.

The Cooperative seeks 100 foot permanent easements for maintenance of the power line.

Judge Frank W. Hayes heard evidence in the matter of revocation of parole for Delliah Trimble, 19, Sedalia, in Circuit Court Tuesday and then took the case under advisement.

Miss Trimble was one of three defendants charged with second degree burglary and stealing in connection with a break-in in June, 1964, at the John T. White home, 103 East 28th. She was sentenced to two years imprisonment in April this year and then placed on parole.

Co-defendants in the case Roger D. McGinnis and John Angel were sentenced to two-year terms in September, 1964.

Police said Tuesday that a recent theft of a portable television and transistor radio from the Singer Sewing Center, 209 South Ohio, has been cleared with no prosecution.

It was originally reported that the items, valued at a total of $209, were shoplifted last week. But police said Tuesday the TV and radio were taken by two juvenile boys, aged 12 and 17, who entered the store through an upstairs window at night.

The mother of the two youths returned the TV and radio, police reported.

Two juvenile boys were picked up for shoplifting Tuesday afternoon at the Western Auto store on West Main. The youths were turned over to Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn.

● Fires In City

A flashback from a hot water heater set fire to some mops beside the heater and caused slight damage at the Ivan Grimes residence, 417 East 15th at 7:22 a.m. Wednesday. The blaze was out when firemen arrived.

Fire Chief Emmett Vaught said Wednesday that a juvenile boy has admitted two fires in Sedalia, one Monday afternoon and another Tuesday afternoon.

The youth admitted touching off the blazes after being questioned by Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn. The boy is mentally retarded, authorities said, and his case is being handled by the juvenile officer.

Latest of the fires blamed on the youth was at 3:55 p. m. Tuesday when a vacant block dwelling at 1939 East Seventh was found ablaze. Firemen used one booster line to douse the fire, but damage was estimated at $100 to the house and $50 to contents. The structure is owned by H. F. Hrefurth of Boonville.

The other fire the youth admitted setting was a trash blaze Monday afternoon at 1816 East Seventh. Slight damage was reported.

Police said Wednesday they also desired to have the youth questioned in connection with vandalism of turning on a water faucet recently at the Broadway Baptist Chapel on East Broadway and regarding a fire about a month ago at 1326 East Broadway.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. When will coverage of hospital care costs under the medical insurance program begin?

A. On July 1, 1966. So don't be too quick to drop any health insurance protection you may now have. By the time the new program goes into effect, private insurance plans will probably be tailored to dovetail with the new Social Security hospital insurance protection.

Sound Track Laughs Don't Make a Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If the sound of laughter filled the nation's living rooms Tuesday night, it was mostly those ghostly yocks artfully added to television sound tracks as guideposts to merriment.

The sad truth is that we viewers surely needed some guideposts to find much of the humor in the three comedy series unveiled.

NBC's "My Mother the Car" led off the parade.

This little comedy opened with star Jerrry Van Dyke wandering around a used car lot and finding a 1928 touring car that suddenly started talking. His mother, deceased 16 years, had come back in the shape of an old auto.

From that moment, the laugh tracks started reacting riotously to the poor fellow's plight — his wife, two children, even his dog, just wouldn't believe his dead mother was a car. It was pretty dismal stuff.

Things looked up a bit as "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" followed on the channel. This is a rather routine situation comedy except that the Nash family has four boys including twins and mommy isn't a typical suburban housewife, but a newspaper columnist-housewife.

The first episode featured a husband-wife battle over one of her witty articles about her husband. There were a few bright moments when bits of the dialogue had the sound of the crisp prose of Jean Kerr from whose writings this was adopted.

Finally, there was ABC's "F Troop," designed to answer the entertainment prayers of the audience which has missed Sergeant Bilko of late, adores Westerns and thinks prat-fall comedy is hilarious.

In this one, a timid refugee from the Quartermasters Corps accidentally becomes a hero and is sent West to command F Troop, a rascally bunch of cavalry in an Old West fort surrounded by determinedly peace-loving Indians. It is noisy, reminiscent of Mack Sennett silent comedies and it may just be the show that catches the young public's fancy the way "Gilligan's Island" did last year.

New Channel Catfish In Spring Fork Lake

A fresh load of channel catfish was dumped into Springfork Lake Wednesday morning.

Water Department manager Herb Taylor said the shipment totaled 7,500 fish in the 10 to 12 inch size range. The fish were secured from the Osage Beach Hatchery operated by former Pettis Countian Jim Kahrs.

ematics teachers at Smith-Cotton was noted by Norris and he said an additional teacher would probably be needed with the expected Boeing increase.

Personnel employed by Supt. Norris and given formal board approval to fill vacancies included: Mrs. Kay Ferris, elementary teacher; Mrs. Patty Lou Ferrari, elementary teacher; Mrs. Josephine Purnell, English teacher at Hubbard; Mrs. Marva Lee Gregory, matron at Smith-Cotton High School; Lloyd Gudenschwager, dishwasher and custodian at Smith-Cotton cafeteria; Loyd Gordy, part-time custodian at Mark Twain School; and Theodore Brown, mathematics teacher at Smith-Cotton.

The board in August had empowered Norris to fill the existing vacancies prior to the opening of the school term.

Chapman-Young, St. Louis, was awarded a bid of $11 each on six chairs for the Smith-Cotton home economics department. Only the one bid was received as the chairs were to match others already in use.

Recent Highway Patrol inspection of school busses used here revealed rear tires were unsafe on a Ford bus owned by the district and used in transportation of students to various events such as ball games.

Bids were opened on the providing of four tires and tubes, 9:00x20 in size, and taken under advisement to accept the best bid after an investigation to determine if the bids were for comparable type tires. Bids were received from Firestone, $275.80; B. F. Goodrich, $295.96 Orscheln Farm & Home, $233; and Goodyear, $234.16.

Norris also told the board that under a Missouri House bill, No. 88, which becomes effective Oct. 13, non-teaching employees will be included in a retirement program. The district will be required to deduct from the salaries of such employees the difference between current Social Security deductions and 6 per cent of their salary.

90th Birthday Of J. C. Penney Feted Thursday

Sedalia's J. C. Penney Co. Store will have a decorated cake Thursday to celebrate, with the nearly 1,700 Penney department stores in the country, the 90th birthday of James Cash Penney, founder. Candles will be lighted coinciding with a similar ceremony at 3 p.m. (EDT) at the company's central office in New York City.

While Penney has not been involved for many years in direct management of the firm bearing his name, he serves on the board of directors, according to Sedalia Manager Bob Rudisill.

As Penney nears the nine generation mark, his major interest continues to be in the company he founded in April of 1902, when he opened his first store in the frontier mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo.

Snake Attracts Attention Around County Courthouse

A snake, very large but very dead, was attracting considerable attention about the Pettis County courthouse Wednesday morning.

The reptile, 75½ inches in length and identified as a bullsnake, was killed by Jess Neil in the driveway of his home 2½ miles north of Marshall Junction on Tuesday.

Neil was unable to determine the species of the snake and he happened to meet County Treasurer Virgil Houchens, who volunteered to bring the snake to Sedalia and obtain identification. Houchens had Conservation Agent Chester Vermaas view the snake Wednesday morning and Vermaas identified it as a bullsnake — unusual to this area and unusually large in size. The species is non-poisonous.

The snake had already been wounded when Neil first noticed it and he was able to kill it with a metal crank.

Service Station Hit By Burglars

Kenny's Service Station at Sweet Springs was burglarized overnight Tuesday after entrance was gained by breaking a rear window.

Another window was broken to enter the station office. Taken were 15 cartons of cigarettes, a box of candy bars, a case of motor oil and two auto tires.

City Marshal Charlie Roscher and Saline County Deputy Sheriff Walter Wade are investigating.

Red China Verbally Attacks the British

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China declared today that Britain's Labor government was in danger of immediate collapse because of its "policy of subservience to the United States."

The attack on Britain, which recognizes Peking, was somewhat unusual from Red China. China.

US Initiative Is Predicted In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — High U.S. military officials are looking for Gen. William C. Westmoreland to seize the initiative from the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

There are two main factors in top level hopes for an increasing offensive:

1. A build-up of U. S. fighting forces in Viet Nam shortly will reach about 127,000 men, with more American troops expected to follow.

2. The dry season is approaching. It will permit all-out air operations after a months-long rainy period that hampered such operations.

Arrival of the 16,000-man 1st Cavalry Division, with its fleet of 428 helicopters, gives Westmoreland greatly increased resources for maneuver. He is the top U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

With the heavily strengthened combat forces available to him, "Westmoreland can now act rather than react," one high ranking officer said.

He mentioned a big Marine operation in the Chu Lai area last month and added: "You can expect that type of thing to increase."

At Chu Lai, officials said, the Marines beat the Viet Cong to the draw and averted an impending Communist attack in force.

The announced body count of Viet Cong dead topped 600. But U.S. military officials now believe that perhaps twice that many of the enemy were killed at Chu Lai. Many Viet Cong apparently were sealed up by explosions in tunnels and caves, authorities said.

Top military officials clarified U. S. strategy in Viet Nam.

Chiefly, they said it calls for American fighting units to strike out from secure bases and coastal enclaves to fix and destroy Communist units wherever they can be found. Vital to such far ranging operations is improving intelligence information.

The gradual pacification of widening areas is regarded as a byproduct of efforts to insure security of U.S. bases by sending patrols farther and farther beyond base perimeters.

As the Viet Cong are cleared from such areas, it is hoped, the Vietnamese army can handle the job of pacification.

In the delta, where the Communists have suffered some significant reverses recently, the South Vietnamese troops will continue to carry the brunt of the fighting.

U.S. military authorities credit the gains in the delta in part to what they say is outstanding leadership and aggressiveness shown by South Vietnamese officers in that theater which used to be a Viet Cong happy hunting ground.

There is no intention to send U.S. combat units into the delta, but U.S. planners aim to intensify air strikes there in support of the Vietnamese.

Concern over possible command friction between U.S. and Vietnamese officers in the field apparently has subsided.

Safety Requires Teamwork

Without realizing it was a special occasion we got a school safety editorial under the wire Tuesday the result of which calls for another one this last day of National Child Safety Week, a week supposed to be observed on a nationwide basis but taken for granted even if it is given publicity. Of course a special week's observance does lend emphasis to the subject of safety in any category. However, the theme is one which requires daily attention. There is no escaping the need for it around the clock even in the matter of parking shoes and other paraphrenalia in the middle of a a dining room, bath room or kitchen where they become obstacles over which someone including yourself might trip.

These and many other hazards contribute to an appalling toll of injuries and deaths to youngsters in areas beyond the traffic accidents which we usually discuss at school time.

Yesterday we noted that it is necessary to appeal to parents to teach their children to be careful, and for the children to practice what their parents preach. But this was incomplete. We should have added that adults must also advance the cause of safety by example.

Why do high school students swarm across an intersection while traffic lights are against them? Is it because of a feeling of security in the mass movement which no motorist would dare challenge? Or is it because they have grown up witnessing adults disregard the traffic signals downtown, particularly at Third Street and Ohio avenue? Just casual observation of adult behavior at intersections since school started last week indicates lack of interest by older persons in their own safety.

Then, too, there are innumerable instances in which motorists callously fail to take proper precautions when passing schools, playgrounds and busses.

Not just one week out of the year but every week the rules of safety must be everlastingly emphasized if tragedy is to be averted.

Furthermore, the observance of safety practices whether in or around the school or home is a cooperative undertaking requiring the alertness not only of adults but also of children. All can disregard the effort and create confusion and tragedy, or work together and by example perhaps convert those recalcitrants who so often seem to care less about their own and other people's safety until after they land in a hospital.

ANDERSON (S.C.) DAILY MAIL: Our Sally's Still Going Strong. — Police in Omaha, Neb., took the indomitable Sally Rand into custody a few hours one night recently after she had given her famed fan dance in a night club there.

If Miss Rand, who is now 61, is still able to do a fan dance, and can still pack in the customers, she should be given a medal rather than a police summons.

Sally was a sensation with her fans at the 1933 World's Fair.

Nowadays, we understand, many modern dancers, on stage and in the movies, would consider fans so much excess baggage.

So we say more power to Sally and her fans.

The World Today

Great Transformation In 20 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are now two wars, which make these days look like the same old bubbling and boiling the world has lived through for 20 years, but future men may consider them simply the end of an era.

The new era begins when Red China finally has a supply of nuclear bombs. It has had its test explosions and now can be considered to be in the process of perfecting its weapons.

The 20 years since World War II have seen a greater transformation in the composition of the world than any similar period in history.

A multitude of new nations came into existence; colonialism all but ended; the development of nuclear weapons has made all previous weapons look like matches; man has moved into space; Russian communism and the Western world went through breathless moments in tests of strength; and both sides became mature enough to forsake tensions, at least for a while.

But the maturity was achieved through fear, not philosophy, since both sides have weapons powerful enough to eliminate each other. Through their rival strengths they were compelled to respect each other's power of destruction.

In time a fully armed China might be expected to feel the same. But at best this can be only a hope and the indications from Red China now are the opposite.

In these past years, despite its huffings, puffings and machinations, Red China, because of its feeble and old-fashioned weaponry, has had to stand pretty much on the sidelines, growling maledictions but afraid of a showdown in which it would be fatally outclassed by the infinitely superior power of the United States and the Soviet Union.

The years since the Communists took over China in 1949 have been the foundation years in which they had to move slowly over a tortuous poverty road, organizing both government and industry, until at last they could emerge on that high plateau where they might hope to match their opponents.

But, once they have their arsenal of nuclear destruction, they can abandon their studied role of the reluctant dragon and begin to move far more directly than they have ever dared so far.

And when that time comes they will, no doubt, feel freer and safer to assert dominance over the rest of Asia as a starter toward the communization of the world they only talk of now. When that time comes, and as they move, the United States, for one, will have to ask itself a question which was not a problem before:

Is it worth risking nuclear war to save, say, a place like far-off Formosa which the Red Chinese have always claimed but so far feared to take?

Troubled as these past 20 years have been, they may look like a time of comparative peace when considered against the years ahead. If this sounds ominous, the Red Chinese themselves have given warning.

Earlier this month one of their top officials, Marshal Lin Piao, the defense minister, spelled it out in a statement long enough to fill at least one whole newspaper page. All he said expressed hunger for war against the West.

He went beyond simply urging revolutions in Africa, Asia and Latin America, steadily creeping up on the Western world to strangle it and always with encouragement and help from Red China.

He said: "U.S. imperialism has (nuclear) weapons, but others have them, too. If it threatens other countries with nuclear weapons, U.S. imperialism will expose its own country to the same threat."

Red China's present leaders have been forging their revolution since the 1920s. They are old but they have never lost a revolutionary's fanatic zeal. There is always the possibility that when they finally die their successors, who never endured their hardships, will be more moderate.

But the Red marshal, anticipating such a hope, said:

"It is sheer day-dreaming for anyone to think that since our revolution has been victorious, our national construction is forging ahead, our national wealth is increasing, and our living conditions are improving, we will lose our revolutionary fighting will, abandon the cause of world revolution. . ."

We the Women

Husbands Hold Key

By Ruth Millett

Comment from a reader of this column:

Millett

"In my opinion a woman who neglects her home duties has become discouraged because her husband has failed somewhere in his duty of realizing that being a mother, housekeeper, cook, handyman and companion is not always a bed of roses. When a wife is led to feel her work is unimportant, she seeks outside activities where her efforts are appreciated more.

"If a man wants his wife to be happy in the job of homemaking and to excel in it he ought to try the following:

"Listen sympathetically when his wife has had a hard day—realizing that her job has its problems and discouragements just as his does.

"Compliment his wife on the dinner she has prepared — or comment on how nice the house looks, if she has obviously spent the day getting it in apple-pie order.

"Show some interest in the children and what they have been doing in his absence.

"Do the home repair jobs that need to be done without being disagreeable about having to do them or putting it off indefinitely.

"Do his share to keep the house neat to show that he appreciates a well-kept house and knows it takes some cooperation from every member of the family to keep it that way.

"Let his wife know he considers the job of homemaking important, instead of low-rating it.

"Act happy to be home at the end of the day, instead of coming home with a grouch."

Well, men, that's one woman's suggestions for what you can do to make your wife happy with her job as homemaker and eager to do it to the best of her ability. Have you tried them all?

The Mature Parent

Advisers Aren't Sharers

By Mrs Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Lawrence

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Sometimes you give the best advice of anyone writing in your field. But sometimes it's so far out it's crazy. That stuff you said about taking time to hold a small child firmly to teach him obedience is about as impractical as you can get. Have you ever had a houseful of kids to take care of, had to run the home, shop, cook and clean? If you have, you ought to know how nonsensical that advice is. . . .

Answer: This is not a column of advice, that thing which the dictionary defines as "expression of opinion on action to take in some situation."

It is a column that seeks to share with you a moral structure of which the action I suggest is merely a consequence. If you can't share the moral structure, you can't use the action, either. They just don't belong to you.

The action involved in holding a small, defiant child firmly until he gets the point of our "no" is a consequence of my moral conviction that discipline of one's child is more important than one's housekeeping. If the action seems "crazy" to you, so must my conviction. Neither one belongs to you.

In the same way, you can't use my recommendation to wait for a lying child to tell the truth if you believe that your prime responsibility is getting confession out of him. Your moral conviction will compel you to punish him until he delivers the confession.

Mine is different from yours. It permits me to wait because my moral conviction sees my prime responsibility as persuading him to assume responsibility for himself.

Again in the same way, if you're afraid of human passion, you can't use the action I suggest toward children's tantrums —the conveyance of concern toward these explosions of intolerable frustration. You'll have to act toward tantrums as the "experts" tell you to — "ignore" them.

I can't "ignore" them. My moral views won't let me. They compel me to regard serene detachment from other people's suffering as outrageous. So I should not only be unable to manage this "ignoring" disinterest in a child's tantrum but am delighted that I can't, believing as I do that our disconnection from each other's feelings causes most of the woe in this world.

If I thought myself to be your "advice" giver, I'd quit writing this column. I don't respect "advice" givers. They give nothing. They just tell us what to do without sharing one bit of their thought, their feeling and moral conclusions with us. It saddens me to be told I give it, trying as hard as I do to share myself with you.

FBI Seems To Ignore Book Thieves; Not In Top 10

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the things I cannot understand about the Federal Bureau of Investigation is that in its periodical listing of America's 10 most-wanted criminals it never includes a book thief.

Certainly it is a fine thing to catch and bring to justice bank busters and kidnapers and fellows who have ridden a stolen horse across state lines.

But sometime when the FBI isn't fully occupied in protecting our freedoms and our other properties, I wish it would catch a book thief. I don't want the FBI to bring the culprit to justice. I want the FBI to bring him to me, so I can first punch him in the nose and then give him a fair trial.

Because of my job, I am sent a couple of hundred books a year by publishers. I also buy about 50 a year.

Those I wish to keep I put in a bookcase near my desk. Recognizing, however, there is the requirement for the expression of larceny in every human heart, I put the rest of the books on top of the bookcase.

It is okay with me if those on top are browsed among, borrowed or stolen.

So what happens?

The books I want to refer to are almost invariably stolen. But most of the books I put out to be stolen stay there and stay there and stay there.

In my spare time I try to figure out what motivates book thieves in their choice. Here is what I have found out about them.

If a book has a glossy cover and is priced above $5.95, it invariably disappears. The thief who takes it rather disappoints me, as I think he has greed in his heart rather than literary appetite.

If a new book hasn't made the best seller list the week I put it on top of the bookcase, it is undisturbed. If it makes the best seller list the following week, it will disappear immediately.

Self-improvement books such as "How to Make the Most of Your Life" just collect dust. But if it is entitled "How to Win at the Races," it is instantly stolen.

Certain books appear to be thief-proof. These include any book about religion, most books about politicians, and all books about communism.

A couple of books I put out as test examples also have remained untaken. They are "The New Testament in Modern English" and "How to Read the Bible" by Edgar J. Goodspeed.

Any book dealing with sex, of course, is stolen before my own fingerprints on it cool off.

I have learned only one sure way to foil book thieves. If there is a volume I particularly cherish and wish to keep for future reference, I throw away its dust jacket and cover it with the dust jacket of a book called "The Integrity of the Personality."

Nobody will then come near it but me.

Oswald Jacoby starts the family conversation with more reminiscing but Jim brings it right up to date.

Oswald: "I guess that over the years I have had more really good results because of an opponent's mistaken attempt to be brilliant than from any one cause."

Jim: "The same applies to my own experience. Just the other day an opponent was brilliant enough to hand me an impossible contract on a silver platter. Of course, the contract was a good one to start with. It was unfortunate when I played the queen of spades from dummy at trick one. East had the king to cover it. At this point I could be sure of six diamonds and two aces and little or no expectation of being able to make my ninth trick anywhere. Then East started to think and I started to hope. He could only be thinking of one thing which would be whether or not he should unblock the spade suit. Sure enough after the wheels had gone round and round he put the jack of spades on the table and my ten of spades had become my ninth trick. The play also gave me a chance to try for ten, but West showed up with both the ace and queen of hearts so I had to settle for my contract without anything extra."

Oswald: "Not a bad settlement at all. You can't complain when you bring home an impossible contract."

Jim: "As a matter of fact East was rather unlucky. Had I held the queen of hearts and not the ten of spades East's unblocking would have been the play to set me."

Oswald: "Yes, he was unlucky, but I think that he went out of his way to manufacture his own bad luck and that the odds favored the conservative play."

Review Policies of John Foster Dulles

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Since Arthur Schlesinger, in his book, has revealed President Kennedy's impatience with the undynamic Dean Rusk as Secretary of State, it may be interesting to review the policies of the very dynamic John Foster Dulles as Secretary of State.

Unlike Rusk, who reports the pros and the cons to the President and lets him make the decisions, Dulles made the decisions. President Eisenhower constantly deferred to him, treated him with respect, almost awe.

The review is especially appropriate at this time because two Dulles' brain children, CENTO and SEATO, with the arming of Pakistan as a key policy, have led to a dangerous war which could spread to the rest of Asia.

Looking over the most important of Mr. Dulles' policies we find the following:

Unleashing Chiang Kai-Shek — This was a Republican battle cry against Truman even before Eisenhower was elected. The Democrats, Dulles claimed, would not let Chiang's Nationalist Army attack the Chinese mainland.

Almost immediately after Ike entered the White House Chiang was unleased, and a few months later we had to order the U. S. Seventh Fleet back to put him on the leash. It was not a matter of preventing him from attacking the mainland, but rather to protect him from Red Chinese attack.

Agonizing Reappraisal — This was a warning Dulles issued to France early in 1953 — that we would have to reappraise our help to France. In contrast, France has been reappraising her position toward NATO, toward her gold in Fort Knox, and toward our business investments ever since.

Aswan Dam — Dulles first promised aid to Egypt to build this famous irrigation project on the Nile, then hastily withdrew it. The withdrawal caused Nasser to seize the Suez Canal, an event which severed the lifeline of the British empire and changed the course of history.

Suez Crisis—When the French and British supported Israel in retaking the Suez Canal, Dulles was actually in the hospital. However, he is reported to have supported Eisenhower in pulling the rug out from under the French and British and forcing them to withdraw. The retreat seriously undermined the prestige of both countries and hastened the time when they had to relinquish their African colonies, some then not ready for self-government.

This in turn changed the balance of power in the United Nations.

Massive Retaliation — Early in the Eisenhower administration, Dulles decreed the policy of massive retaliation — dropping nuclear bombs — aiming the warning especially against the communist threat in Indochina.

Ever since then the United States has followed just the opposite policy of limited wars, and limited landing of troops, as in Viet Nam, Lebanon and the Dominican Republic. The communists were smart enough to realize that we were not going to risk setting the world on fire with massive retaliation. Dulles' idea was sheer bluff and the communists knew it.

Snubbing Khrushchev — Dulles decreed that Khrushchev, then angling for a trip to the United States, should not be permitted to come. Six weeks after Dulles died, Eisenhower invited him. The trip began a period of better understanding between the world's two great nuclear powers, which ended only with Khrushchev's ouster and our bombing of North Viet Nam.

The SEATO Pact — Which Dulles contrived, was knocked in the head when Pakistan refused to use its vast arsenal of weapons to help us in Viet Nam. Its refusal was based on the fact that Red China was on the other side in Viet Nam, and Pakistan had formed a military alliance with China, the very nation we thought we were containing by arming Pakistan. Thus the vast arsenal of weapons poured into Pakistan went for nothing.

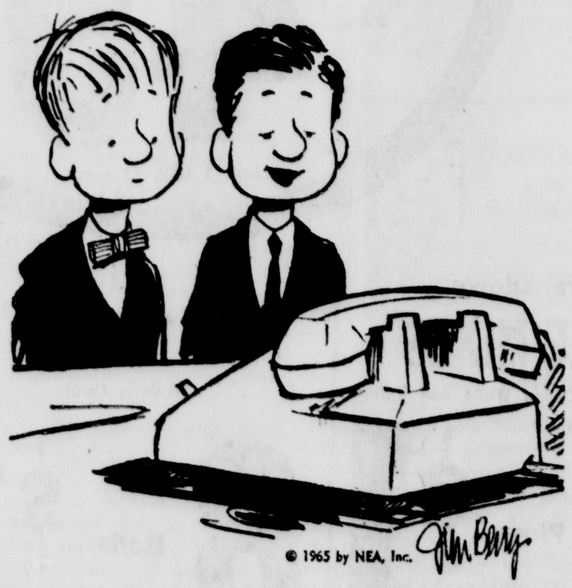

That arsenal had been poured in despite repeated protests by the Indians who warned us, ten years ago, that these weapons would be used not against China but against them.

Note — The Indians were too polite to say much publicly — but they wondered quite a bit about that $200,000 diamond, ruby and emerald necklace which the President of Pakistan gave Jackie Kennedy. Americans knew Jackie had nothing to do with the policy of sending arms to Pakistan, previously set by Dulles, but some Indians weren't so sure; all of which proves how right the founding fathers were when they barred foreign gifts to Americans in high places.

CENTO — This second Dulles pact, which included Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan, foundered on Cyprus when we wouldn't give the Turks all they wanted and they, in turn, used U. S. fighter bombers against their NATO allies, the Cypriot Greeks. The final props were knocked out from under CENTO when Pakistan, not content with getting American arms, called upon us to support them actively against India.

So perhaps it's just as well to have a more scholarly, if somewhat more ponderous Dean Rusk at the helm of American foreign policy.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cream of the world's legal profession is in Washington to discuss promoting world peace through the rule of law.

In the House, it's "home rule" day, but the emphasis will be on sidestepping the issue. The administration wants no part of the bill up for consideration today. Its proposal comes up later this month.

Sources say the Army is so pleased by its helicopter operations in Viet Nam that plans are under way to double the number of chopper companies.

World Peace: High court justices and lawyers from 110 nations gather in Washington today for the World Conference on World Peace Through Law.

Absent on the list of early reservations were any representatives of Communist countries.

Major speakers at the first session were Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, and Sir Percy Spender of Australia, president of the International Court of Justice at The Hague.

Said Warren in his prepared speech: "The only provable harness for the peaceful containment of power yet developed by the mind of man is the rule of law."

Home Rule: It's "home rule" day in the House today, but the plan was to prevent any discussion of self-government for the District of Columbia.

The reason: The bill ready for consideration was drafted by home rule opponents, and would give 85 per cent of the nation's capital to the state of Maryland. The remaining 15 per cent would be left as is, under direct control of Congress.

House Speaker John W. McCormack told Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S. C., chairman of the House District Committee and chief supporter of the 85-15 plan, he wouldn't recognize him on the floor.

McCormack planned to schedule other bills of equal priority, thus sidetracking the District bill.

A second "home rule" measure, this one supported by the administration, is to come up before House Sept. 27. It would leave the District boundaries as they are and provide for a mayor-council form of government.

Army Helicopters: The Army is pleased over the performance of helicopters in the Vietnamese war. As a result, it plans to double the number of its helicopter companies.

AP military writer Fred S. Hoffman reports that 32 new independent chopper companies will be created. They will include about 620 helicopters.

At present, the Army has about 4,500 helicopters.

Major Amos Hoople Sees 35-10 Loss By Missouri

By AMOS B. HOOPLE
Fearless Forecaster
(Exactly as dictated)

Egad, friends, times flies — to coin a phrase—and almost before one can say Ara Parseghian another football season will be in full swing.

It will be a great comfort to the millions of followers of the Hoople System to know their

The Old Boy Himself

Fearless Forecaster will be on hand again this year to help The Old Boy Himself them handicap the leading collegiate football encounters — har-rumph! Our personal pledge this year is to improve on our 700-plus batting average of 1964 —kaff-kaff!

The increased activity in the Gemini program of space exploration has made heavy inroads on my time, so to assist me in preparing my weekly forecast I've engaged the services of John "Crew Cut" Male, another illustrious son of Yale! It was at Yale, you'll remember, that I first made football history — Boola-Boola! — But more of that some other time.

In addition to Crew Cut, the other regular members of my staff, Hannibal Wottaburp and Dr. I. M. Inorbit, will pe available for consultation.

Now to the business at hand.

Speaking of Mr. Parseghian, as we were earlier, your correspondent looks for Ara's lads to make their first 1965 effort a winning one. We see it as a 27-12 victory for Notre Dame over California's Golden Bears.

The boys from Missouri are sure to get the "bird" as they entertain Kentucky. That would be the high-flying tail-back Rodger Bird, who teams with quarterback Rick Norton to give Kentucky loads of offensive class. Make it Kentucky 35, Missouri 10.

At Athens, Ga., the Bulldogs have the dubious pleasure of hosting defending national champion Alabama. But hold on to your hats, dear readers, the Hoople System foresees a Georgia triumph, 12-10—kaff-kaff!

Other contests worthy of special note will find Michigan prevailing over North Carolina, 25-17, Southern Methodist outpointing Miami of Florida, 18-15, and Virginia upsetting favored Duke 16-15—hak-kaff!

Now go on with the forecast.

Willie's Bat Booms Out Another Homer

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays did it again. Sandy Koufax didn't.

Mays, who hit his 500th career homer just 24 hours earlier, made it 501 Tuesday nght, sparking the National League-leading San Francisco Giants to a 10-inning, 7 to 5 triumph over Houston.

Koufax, however, found only the number of his losses increased in his first start since pitching a perfect game against Chicago last Thursday. The Cubs beat Koufax and Los Angeles 2-1.

The Giants were losing 5-2 going into the ninth inning. But Jesus Alou singled home a run and was on first with two out when Mays came to bat.

He worked the count to 3-2, then fouled off four pitches from Claude Raymond before he drove the ball into the left field seats for his 48th homer and a 5-5 tie.

San Francisco went on to win it n the 10th on Jim Davenport's two-run single, and the Giants had a 12-game winning streak, tying the longest in the majors this season, and a 3½-game lead, biggest in the NL since July 21.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, fell into a tie for second place with Cincinnati as Koufax suffered his eighth defeat against 22 victories and his fourth in his last five decisions. Actually, the perfect game is the only victory Koufax has posted in the past month.

The Los Angeles left-hander didn't get very far into his attempt at a fifth no-hitter and second in a row. He struck out leadoff batter Don Young in the first inning, but Glenn Beckert followed with a double into right field.

Koufax also didn't travel much further along the road to breaking Bob Feller's all-time season strikeout record of 348. He fanned three in the six innings he worked, raising his total to 335.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati clobbered New York 13-6, Philadelphia trimmed Milwaukee 2-0 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 3-2.

Billy Williams sent Koufax down to defeat, slamming his 31st homer after Jim Lefebvre booted Young's grounder in the sixth. Bob Hendley, who pitched a one-hitter in Koufax' perfect performance, held the Dodgers to four hits, including Don Drysdale's pinch-hit, run-scoring single.

Frank Robinson drove in five runs with a pair of homers as the Reds handed the Mets their 101st loss. Vada Pinson knocked in three runs with two singles while Bill McCool saved Jim O'Toole's third victory of the season, all against the Mets. Roy McMillan drove in three New York runs with a single and a double.

John Callison's two-run homer in the first inning and Jim Bunning's two-hit pitching dropped the fourth-placed Braves six games from the top. Callison connected off Hank Fischer after Rich Allen led off with a single. Bunning posted his 17th victory against eight defeats.

Pittsburgh, in fifth place, fell 7½ games back as St. Louis' Bob Gibson brought his record to 18-10. Two errors by first baseman Donn Clendenon led to all three Cardinal runs. The Pirates also missed out on the tying run because Clendenon was thrown out when he failed to tag up on a deep fly ball in the eighth inning and had to retreat to third base.

Sophomores Drop Game To Columbia

By Doug Dickman

The Smith-Cotton high school sophomore Tigers, Tuesday night, came out on the short end of a 32-0 score in a grid game played in Columbia. This was the first game of the '65 season for both teams.

The first score of the game came on a 65 yard drive which ended with a nine-yard pass which went for the touchdown. The Junior Kewpies tried for the extra goal on a place kick which failed.

In the second quarter Larry Thomas passed and it was intercepted by Johnson of Columbia who ran it back for 58 yards for a touchdown. The extra point try by a kick failed.

Also in the second quarter, Bynum, halfback of the Kewpies, on the first play after his team took charge of the ball went down the middle for 79 yards for a touchdown, and the kick for the extra point was good. This ended the first half scoring, givng Columbia 19 to Smith-Cotton's 0.

Smith-Cotton had a tough break in the first quarter when a 37 yard run by Mike Robertson, on a right end sweep, lost the gain when the play was called back because of illegal motion by the Tigers. John Bunch, in the second quarter intercepted a pass on his own 48, but the Tigers didn't provide any thrills, after the interception.

The third quarter was "all-Columbia" again. They opened on their own 45 yard line and put through a ground battle for 55-yards for a touchdown. Jerry Morris blocked the try for extra point.

With two seconds left in the final quarter Columbia scored their final touchdown on a pass from Mike Sangster to Gary Turner for seven yards, which play capped a 92-yard drive most made on the ground. The extra point came on a place kick.

George Williams of the Tigers recovered a fumble for the Tigers on Columbia's 22 yard line, and drove to the three yard line only to see their work disappear as Larry Thomas was thrown for a five-yard loss on the fourth down.

A Junior Varsity game is scheduled for Monday night with Warrensburg Public High at Jennie Jaynes Stadium.

COWBOY BOB

Cowboy Bob Returns To Ring Here

A triple main event, featuring an appearance by Midlands favorite, Cowboy Bob Ellis, is on tap at Convention Hall Tuesday night, Sept. 21.

Ellis, the rangy, 242-pound Texan wth move star looks, is returning to the Middle West this season after an extensive wrestling campaign on both coasts.

The cowboy from San Antonio earned his ring spurs in the Central States a few seasons back and vaulted into prominence with the rodeo headlock, a device that might better be used in corralling a boisterous steer.

The handsome, dark-haired Ellis will receive a solid test in his first appearance of the new season. He is matched against Paul Caruso, a stocky Boston grappler bidding for stardom in the Midlands just like Ellis. Caruso will tip 235 pounds and is a solidly-built heavyweight who is at home in any kind of mat warfare. He particularly likes to rough it and will take this approach against the long, powerful Texan.

Sonny Myers, a Sedalia favorite, will also be on hand for next Tuesday's fireworks. Myers, now launching his third decade as an active campaigner, will battle the towering Stomper in a companion feature that promises some jolting, fast-paced action.

Myers is generally regarded as one of the finest ring workmen in the business. He has strength, skill and speed and puts them all to work for him. The Stomper is a hulking 270-pounder who can move like a lightweight.

Rounding out the second program of the season here will be a pairing between Thor Hagen and Bob Brown.

Experienced Lineup

CMSC Mules May See Good Year

Central Missouri State football coach Kenny Robb appeared to have a team that has come of age this year as he announced a tentative starting lineup for Saturday's season opener at Kansas State College of Pittsburg.

Two years ago, when Robb first took over the head coaching spot, he had to depend largely on a young team. The squad traveled with 21 freshmen, eight of them offensive starters and five defensive. The Mules won only two games that year.

Last year, still with many underclassmen, the Mules used five freshmen as defensive starters, winning one game and losing eight.

This year the Mules will field an offensive team composed completely of lettermen and a defensive squad of nearly all lettermen. All seven seniors on the squad will be starters either offensively or defensively.

There is no decision yet on the key quarterback spot, with both John Repp, Boonville, and Dick Foertsch, Los Angeles, Calif., in contention. Both are lettermen and were used about equally last year. Both are juniors, six-footers and weigh 190 pounds. The main difference appears to be in Repp's general ball-handling ability and Foertsch's passing ability.

At ends will be two juniors named Keith—Browne and Hendrix. Browne, of St. Joseph, is 6-5 and 220, and Hendrix, of Jefferson City, is 6-1 and 210.

At tackles will be two seniors, George Zvirgzdins, a six-foot, 230-pounder from Raytown, and Gerald Emison, 6-4 and 230, from Englewood, N.J.

At guards, tentative starters are George Larsh, a 6-foot, 190-pound junior from Charles City, Iowa, and Phil Bruce, 6-1, 225-pound senior from St. Louis.

At center will be Dave Huffman, a 195-pound junior from Mansfield, Ohio. Robb is still undecided between Adolphus Mooney and Bill Green at tailback. Mooney is a 6-3, 220-pound senior from Kansas City, Mo., and Green a 5-11, 185-pound sophomore from St. Louis. Mooney gained 4.7 yards per carry last year.

Powerful Larry Warren, at 5-9 and 190 pounds, will be at fullback. The Centralia, Mo., junior averaged 6.2 yards per carry last year.

Senior Bob Park, 6-foot, 180-pounder from Butler, Mo., will be scatback.

The one major injury in scrimmage this year has put defensive tackle Dave Walls out of action for at least another four weeks. The 6-2, 235-pound sophomore from Alton, Ill., a letterman as a freshman, suffered a bruised kidney and just recently was released from the hospital.

Robb said it was a pleasure to work with an experienced team this year. He has a varsity squad of 53. This year for the first time the school has a freshman football program, with 54 on that squad. There are 15 additional freshmen on the varsity, however.

Twins Extend A.L. Lead To 10 Games

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League pennant may spell bread and butter to the Minnesota Twins but to the Minneapolis post office it spells jam.

The Twins whipped Kansas City 4-3 Tuesday night, lengthening their American League lead to 10 games, reducing their magic pennant-clinching number to seven and sending thousands of fans out into the streets for a midnight march on the main post office.

"I never saw anything like it," said one post office employee. "It's worse than income tax time."

But it was just World Series ticket time. The Twins began accepting ticket orders dated today and thousands of people began to ring the post office Tuesday night to get the advantage of an early post mark.

The Twins' victory over the Athletics, coupled with Baltimore's split against Detroit, left them with a chance to clinch their first American League pennant by the end of the week.

The Orioles won the opener from Detroit 5-3 but the Tigers took the nightcap 7-1. The Chicago White Sox also fell 10 games back after a 7-1 loss to California. Boston edged Cleveland 5-4 in 13 innings and the New York Yankees downed Washington 3-1.

The Twins cracked a 2-2 tie in the seventh after loading the bases on a single by Zoilo Versalles, a double by Rich Rollins and an intentional walk to Tony Oliva. Jimmie Hall then stroked his 10th hit in his last 22 trips to the plate, a single up the middle that produced two runs and Jim Kaat's 16th victory against 10 losses.

The Orioles and Tigers each won with three-homer salvos. Baltimore got the job done in the opener on Boog Powell's pinch homer in the eighth after Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens connected earlier. Dave Wickersham pitched a five-hitter in the nightcap for Detroit and got home run support from Norm Cash, Mickey Stanley and George Smith.

The Angels put the game out of reach with a five-run explosion against the White Sox in the eighth inning but the big run came in the third inning when Paul Schaal singled, moved to second on a wild pitch, took third on an infield out and scored the tie-breaking run on another wild pitch by Juan Pizarro.

Rookies Bobby Murcer and Rick Beck played key roles for the Yankees. Murcer hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning for his first major league hit and Beck, making his first major league start, got the victory. Murcer's homer was only the second hit off Senators' starter Jim Duckworth.

The Red Sox pulled into a tie in the ninth when Tony Horton hit a bases-empty homer, then won in the 10th when Carl Yastrzemski led off with a homer.

Sukarno Lashes At Imperialist Newsman

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno says "the movement of the tongue" has influenced every period in world history.

This was particularly true of the Indonesian revolution, he said Tuesday night in an address to the "1945 Revolutionaries" organization, whose members played a significant part in the fight for Indonesian independence.

Sukarno said he was replying to "an imperialist journalist"—whom he did not identify—who described Indonesia as "a country without a government that could administer a state and one which was being ruled by tongue."

Rights To Strawder

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons of National Basketball Association, lacking a center after firing Reggie Harding, announced Tuesday they have acquired the rights to ex-Bradley star Joe Strawder.

The Pistons said they purchased the rights to Strawder from the Boston Celtics, who drafted him in 1964 but with whom he never has played.

Tigers To Fulton For Game Friday

The Smith-Cotton Tiger varsity football squad will hit the road this Friday and do battle with the hard-charging Fulton Hornets, a top football power of the Northeast Missouri Conference, according to head Bengal coach Dick Rees. Game time at Fulton is 8 p.m.

Rees told fans to expect a real battle between the two forward walls of the Tigers and the Hornets, as the Hornets appear to be about equal in strength, experience, and agility to the Sedalia team.

"Fulton has a most varied offense, screen passes, long passes, draw plays, reverses and above all the strong running of fullback McBride. He has great speed, is strong as an ox, and likes to run over people," Rees commented.

Defensively, Fulton presents a tough line led by two good guards, one of them a co-captain. The Hornets also have seasoned tackles, ends, and an alert backfield.

The Tigers are fresh from a good showing with the Marshall Owls last Friday night at Jennie Jaynes Stadium where they more than held their own in a zero to zero tie.

Boxing's TV Debut

The sport of boxing made its television debut on June 19, 1946, when the Billy Conn-Joe Louis bout was telecast from New York City to Washington, D.C.

Fight Plan Develops Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — A few hitches have developed but the heavyweight title fight between champion Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson still appears headed for Las Vegas on Nov. 22.

Patterson was named the opponent, Inter-Continental Sports, Inc., as the promoter, and SportsVision as the organization to handle the closed circuit television. This was announced at a hectic press conference Tuesday but the site and date were left open to negotiation.

Sources involved in the promotion had told several newsmen previously that Nov. 22 and Las Vegas were set. After the press conference, where a lot of people had a turn at trying to explain what had happened and was going to happen, these same sources said it still looked like Nov. 22 and Las Vegas.

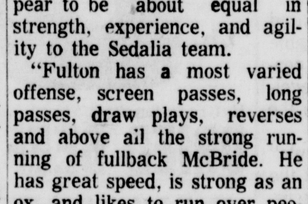

What apparently upset the works at a covered press conference was an earlier announcement from Reno, Nev., that the Nevada Athletic Commission had approved the Nov. 22 date for Las Vegas but that the fight would not be recognized as a title fight.

Bud Traynor, chairman of the commission, said that Nevada was a member of the World Boxing Association and the WBA does not recognize Clay as champion. Later, after he had been told of a statement by Jim Deskin, Traynor changed his position and said Nevada would permit it to be billed as a title fight if the WBA gave its approval.

Deskin, executive secretary of the Nevada Commission and the new president of the WBA, was in New York for the press conference and said Traynor's statement must have been "a mistake or a misunderstanding.

"My understanding was that the Clay-Patterson and a Terrell-Chuvalo fight would have double billing as championship fights," said Deskin.

Minute Measurements Possible With Device

LONDON (AP) — British scientists say they have developed a machine that uses a Laser beam to measure accurately to a few million millionth (trillionths) of an inch.

The National Physical Laboratory at Teddington near London, where the Laser machine was built, said it will be used to check movement standards in machine and automatic tools.

A Laser is an intense beam of light of precisely known wave length.

Erhard May Lose Out In Election

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's election Sunday may bring some important changes in Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government — or even his own eclipse.

Pollsters agree on one point: The fight is so close it could go any of several ways.

The likeliest seems to be that Erhard's Christian Democratic party will continue to be the biggest in the Bundestag, the important house of the West German Parliament. Its junior partner in the government, the Free Democratic party, is pretty certain to suffer losses.

If this coalition can go on ruling the country, even though weakened, West Germany's policies are likely to undergo little change.

The government would stand close with the United States for an integrated Atlantic alliance, but refuse any major aid in the Viet Nam War. It would try to reconcile French President Charles de Gaulle to his partners in the European Common Market, but with small prospect of success. It would seek for better relations to the Soviet Union and its East European satellites, but avoid official contact with the Communist government in East Germany.

The present coalition has a comfortable majority in the Bundestag: 30 votes to 190 for the Social Democrats of West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

If friends of De Gaulle make a good showing, Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder could lose his job. The result could be a leaning toward France and away from the United States.

If the loss is heavy there will be pressure for what the Germans call a "grand coalition" between the Christian Democrats and the Socialists. Erhard has come out against this. He could hardly lead such a government, or even remain in the Cabinet.

A government with Socialists in it probably would try harder to find points of agreement with the Soviets, but it would still be anti-Communist.

The Christian Democrats or the Socialists might surprise everyone and win enough seats to rule the country without political alliances.

Under law, a party that wins 4.9 per cent of the popular vote gets none on the 496 votes in the Bundestag. A party that wins 5 per cent of the voters gets about 25 seats. The National Democrats predict that it will successfully take the 5 per cent hurdle. If it does, the balance of power in Parliament may change.

The chancellor is elected by the Bundestag, not by the popular vote.

The Childs Cup is awarded in the collegiate sport or rowing.

About Town

Mrs. H. W. Maddox and Naomi, 1721 South Stewart, returned Friday by train from a three week trip to California. They left Aug. 21 by car, with Mrs. Maddox's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. O'Neal and Linda, Ventura, Calif., who, for the previous month, had been visiting relatives and friends in Missouri, Iowa and Indiana.

First Baptist 'Court' Hears Mission Aims

"Season of Prayer for State Missions" was observed by First Baptist Church in three September sessions.

The first, Sept. 1, at the church, was related to the year's general theme, "Glory to His Name." Aims of the theme are to stress work of state departments and aid in worship.

Each session was presented in a courtroom setting. Mrs. J. R. Wallace served as judge and Wray Schroeder, clerk.

First to appear before the court was Fred Arbogast, who represented Dr. W. H. Allison and the stewardship committee. After explaining his work, his department was found "necessary" and challenged to continue. Next witness was Jim Gwinn, representing Dale Brubaker and the music department, which was also deemed important to aid in worship. Court was adjourned until Sept. 2nd.

Acting as judge Sept. 2 was Mrs. Ernest Swearngin, with Mrs. William Reed, clerk. "Cases" heard were those of: the executive board, by Mary Flippon; office of missions, Betty Miley; special ministeries, Anna Lee Bale. All were found vital to Baptist work in Missouri and court was adjourned until Sept. 7.

Before "Judge" Lola Arbogast, Mrs. Jessie Arquitt explained the Baptist Foundation, and Mrs. Anna Lee Bail told of publicity and publications department.

Prior to, and following each session, the hymn "Glory to His Name" was sung. Scripture was read and devotionals were given, as were prayers and goals to be met with state mission offerings.

BOYS CLUB NOTES

Twenty boys were on hand for the opening of Boys Club last Wednesday evening along with members of the staff. Plans were made by the Iron Men club for their training sessions in charge of Gordon Strain. Jay Weaver, John Shull and Jerry Parker last years outstanding lifters were on hand for the first work out.

Kenneth Rowlette and Ronnie Adair of last years boxing squad were on hand for the first workout of the boxing team which this year has six invitations for matches with other clubs in the area. It is hoped that there will be at least 20 boys work out for the boxing team which will be in charge of Bill Spooner.

Plans are being made to have a smoker at least once a month during the winter season with six boxing bouts of three rounds each and some weight lifting exhibitions. These smokers will be open to the public and will include matches with boys from other clubs and interclub matches. The boys will be paired off according to weight. One feature bout will be staged at each affair. There will also be wrestling with a 10 minute time limit.

Basketball will get underway as soon as the weather cools. The local Boys Club Junior team will defend its championship against the Whiteman Team this year and will play several out of town games. Any member of the Club who is not a member of a school team is eligible to play. There will also be a Senior team composed of boys over 14 years of age which will be governed by the same rules. Both teams will have coaches and work out a schedule of games. They will be completely uniformed. The Juniors in yellow uniforms and the Senior team outfitted in blue.

BS Troop 65 Advances Seven In Rankings

Seven boys were advanced in rank at Court of Honor of Boy Scout Troop 65 Sept. 1 at Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Advancing were: Tommy Brown to Life Scout; Art Lamm and Robbie Hausam to First Class; Ricky Morris, David Schondelmeyer and Curtis Temple to Second Class; Craig Harris to Tenderfoot.

Court was conducted by Earl T. Crawford, troop committee chairman, and Dale Crawford, president of Explorer Post 65.

Merit badges were awarded to: Edward Ady, pioneering; Tommy Brown, public health, personal fitness, wildlife management, swimming and canoeing; Tony Cassing, pets; Phil Livingston, fishing, nature, pets, cooking, athletics, safety, citizenship in the home, music, home repairs and fishing; Bill Fingland, citizenship in the community.

Dale Crawford gave a report about the trip to Philmont he had made with Richard Parkhurst, scoutmaster, and other explorers and scouts.

The troop was informed that meetings, beginning Sept. 8, would be at the church, instead of at Liberty Park, where summer meetings were held.

It was announced that Scouto-rama would be Oct. 2 at the Agriculture Building at Missouri State Fairgrounds.

550-Pound Tiger Kills Would-Be Mate

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Saba, a 13-year-old 550-pound tiger, has killed his 7-year-old female companion at the Slater Park Zoo.

An attendant found the dead 300-pound tigress when investigating a disturbance at the animals' cages. Saba had killed two lions in a circus before he was bought by the zoo. The zoo had hoped to mate the tigers.

Rubble Still There

Businessmen Await Federal Assistance In Watts Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A let-George-do-it attitude pervades the riot-torn community of Watts. In this case, George is the government.

Businessmen along 103rd Street — the community's commercial center — await outside forces to put them on their feet.

They have been told funds are coming to clean up the rubble, finance new buildings, replace looted stock and redevelop the area. So they wait.

Almost a month after the riot's end, the 10-block stretch still looks as if it had just been devasted by a bombing raid.

Children clamber amidst the charred ruins, hunting for scraps of copper to sell for salvage. Fallen marquees block the sidewalk, forcing pedestrians into the gutter. Unemployed men lounge at street corners with vacant stares.

The street is clogged with traffic — shoppers driving elsewhere and sightseers. Before the August riot tourists came to Watts to see towers — 1100-foot structures of steel and glass. Now they come to see the ruins.

When it was over the riot claimed 36 dead and destroyed an estimated $45 million in property.

One of the dead was shot sniping at the Watts police station. For three hours fires raged along the street unchecked. Firemen responded quickly, but then had to withdraw in a hail of stones and bottles thrown by an angry mob. When they returned, it was too late: 90 per cent of the buildings in the commercial center had been touched by fire, most of them were destroyed by it.

The percentage also reflects the amount of white-owned property there, though some white businesses survived and some Negro shops were burned. The fire after it started knew no color.

"The tragedy we face," says one white storeowner, "is that there no longer is a shopping area in Watts. Customers are already leaving to shop. Those of us who remain are almost in isolation."

The city of Los Angeles has issued orders that buildings that create health or safety hazards must be cleaned up immediately. Where owners delay, city engineers do the work and send them the bill.

Sam Rittenberg, 65, sits near the rear of his loan shop. Next door the liquor store he owned is nothing but a few tons of brick awaiting the bulldozer. Will this white merchant rebuild?

"It all depends on the attitude of the community — and what steps the government takes," says Rittenberg, 21 years a Watts shopkeeper. "Right now I feel uneasy here. I lost $35,000 in one night."

At the street's only bank, manager J. K. Reibennacht, also white, ponders the possibility of a blight covering the street if it is not quickly rebuilt.

"We're concerned about the future of Watts because without these businesses there would be no need for the bank," Riebennacht says." But the bank can only make loans based on a sound financial statement — which many Negroes here don't have. As for the white storeowners, they are waiting to see if the insurance companies pay off."

If the sun were made of best quality of coal, it would have burnt out within 8,000 yeras.

Six Books On Bogart Published

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Following the flood of Kennedy memoirs comes an onrush of books about the late Humphrey Bogart.

At least six books about Bogart are in the publishing process. The question is: Why all this literature about an actor who has been dead eight years?

The answer is that Bogie has been seized as a cult, first by collegiates of the Ivy League, then by the avant garde camp followers of the Eastern seaboard. These presumably are book buyers, and publishers are quick to follow a trend.

First book to hit the market is "Humphrey Bogart: The Man and His Films" Bobbs-Merrill by Paul Michael. It is a handsome volume containing photos, casts and plots of all the Bogart films from "A Devil With Women" (1930) to "The Harder They Fall" (19566). Also included is a brief biography, obviously from previously printed sources.

Next comes Richard Gehman's "Bogart: the scattered recollections of a friend" (Gold Medal Books), which is appearing this month in True magazine. It is a breezy, affectionate review of the Bogart saga, with good accounts of his early and late years.

Reporter Joe Hyams is producing for Prentice-Hall what may be called the official biography, since it had the cooperation of the widow Bogart, Lauren Bacall. Another Hollywood journalist, Ezra Goodman, has penned for Lyle Stuart what may be the unofficial biography; it is reportedly iconoclastic in tone.

Citadel is bringing out "The Movies of Humphrey Bogart," and Price-Stern-Sloane has "Bogie" in the works.

Said a salesman at the Pickwick Bookstore on Hollywood Boulevard: "It doesn't make sense; they're flooding the market."

Miss Bacall is more pointed about some of the forthcoming books. With Bacallian irony, she remarked: "Bogie would be appalled. You know how he loved to be used."

Aim At Literacy

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Department of Education will start a million-dollar program Sept. 21 to reduce illiteracy among approximately 250,000 adults in the state.

Turn To Recreation

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Plans to turn Iona Island in the Hudson River into a recreation area with docking facilities for small boats and river steamers; a swimming pool, sports fields, and picnic groves have been announced by the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, a New York-New Jersey body.

Infallible System Trains Cats To Follow Commands

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a lot of nonsense abroad about cats.

For example, when you get a cat for the first time, all your friends who are cat lovers, warn you sagely, "Cats are a lot different from dogs. You can train a dog, but you can't train a cat."

This is ridiculous. Any domestic animal can be trained. The difference is only one of degree.

With dogs you simply decide what you want them to do, and then teach them to do it. With cats you work the other way. You find out what they want to do, and then don't bother trying to teach them anything else. The system is infallible.

As a result of applying this theory, I feel that the cat in our house, Lady Dottie, is perfectly trained.

At first I made the mistake of trying to train Lady Dottie as if she were a dog. For one thing I set out to teach her to stay out of the way.

What I failed to realize was that she didn't want to stay out of the way; the social needs of her nature required just the opposite — that she get in the way of people. It was her way of stressing her importance.

By capitalizing on this rudimentary discovery, I have successfully trained Lady Dottie so that she is now in the way at all times.

If I want to sit on the sofa, she is there. If I want to sit in the only decent easy chair that has a reading lamp by it, she is there. If I want to go to bed, she has beat me to it. If I want to go to the bathroom — well why should admit that I am the only man in our neighborhood who has to share his bathroom with a cat?

Friends who visit us sometimes say, "How ever do you put up with Lady Dottie? She's always in the way."

They just fail to realize what a thorough job of training I have done on her.

Cats, like children, show off only when they choose. But, also like children, cats can be trained to do anything they want to — if you only approach the problem with love and patience.

Donna Lower United in Marriage To David L. Smith On Aug. 27th

Mrs. David L. Smith

Miss Donna Lower, 1815 South Grand, and Mr. David L. Smith, 726 East Fiftuh, were united in marriage at half past seven o'clock Friday evening, Aug. 27, at Congregational Presbyterian Church, in a double ring ceremony, read by the Rev. Garner S. Odell, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Hayworth and of Mr. Charles E. Lower, both of Sedalia. Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Sedalia, are parents of the bridegroom.

Candles and two bouquets of yellow and white gladioli and chrysanthemums graced the altar.

Mrs. Morris Lees, organist played traditional wedding marches and selections. She accompanied Miss Bonnie Bishop, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because."

Gowned in pale yellow, Miss Becky Lower, sister of the bride, lighted candles. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was fashioned of silk organdy and Chantilly lace. The empire bodice was designed with long tapering sleeves and a high scoop neckline. A wide inset of lace, edged with silk cording, molded the lifted waist, dipping to a low V in back. On each side of the dome shaped silk skirt, pleated fullness highlighted with godets of lace, extended to a chapel length train. A miniature pearl cluster of silk trimmed with lace and pearls held her French pouf veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and traditional wedding flowers. Her only jewelry was a solitaire pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Yellow satin brocade dresses were selected for bridal assistants, Miss Linda Cox, maid of honor, and Miss Jean Craig, bridesmaid. The street length skirts were belled. The long tapered sleeves and necklines were made of yellow chiffon. Their pillbox hats secured shoulder length veils. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow carnations.

Best man was Mr. Ted Griggs. Mr. Terry Gibbs was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Harry Wofford and Mr. Dannie Greer.

The bride's mother wore a mint green and white eyelet three piece dress, accessorized with white. A two piece grey dress was worn by the bridegroom's mother. She accessorized her ensemble with black.

Ninety-six guests were received following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Yellow under lace was accented with yellow satin corner bows for the bridal table, which was centered with a three tiered cake, decorated with yellow roses and wedding bells. Two doves and a pair of wedding bands were placed on the bridal tier. Yellow roses and greenery encircled the base of the cake.

Serving were Mrs. Linda Little, Miss Brenda Broshong and Miss Lois Crouch. Mrs. Jerry Lawson, sister of the bride, attended the guest book.

The couple left that evening for a weekend wedding trip to Springfield. Her yellow two piece suit was accessorized with white and a yellow rose corsage. The couple is at home at 212 West Avenue.

The bride was graduated in 1965 from Smith-Cotton High School and is employed in the Brinc Building. The bridegroom, a 1961 S-C graduate, is employed at Mo-Ox, Inc.

WHAT IF YOU WANT LITTLE HIPS? BUT YOU HATE BIG GIRDLES?

Warners can whittle off pounds with a few ounces. Warner's Turnabout girdle's the girdle that does it with shape, not weight. See the below-the-waist waistband. It smooths down your upper hips with a blend of nylon and uncovered Lycra spandex power net. And the rest of the girdle takes it from there. Instant hips. No. 408: long leg pantie.
